LECHUZA planters.

Planters with practical sub-irrigation system
and made in Germany

LECHUZA-PURO Color 20 // Campanula 'Spring Bell'

LECHUZA makes the difference.

3 key features speak for all LECHUZA products

LECHUZA planters are manufactured from high-quality, weatherproof, robust plastics. But, these planters represent more than just German-made, high-quality products. LECHUZA planters are also extremely functional and feature the intelligent LECHUZA sub-irrigation system. See for yourself!

1 The planter liners

- Removable planter liners available with many LECHUZA planters make changing plantings easy
- Convenient for starting plants and overwintering
- Some liners are interchangeable between different models

2 The LECHUZA plant substrates

- LECHUZA-PON as a natural storage layer for water, nutrients and fertilizer. Many table planters already include plant substrate in the All-in-One Set – so they are ready to plant.
- Our recommendation for outdoor plantings: LECHUZA-TERRAPON

NO. 19710

NO. 19791

NO. 19790

NO. 19792

3 The LECHUZA sub-irrigation system

Better plant growth thanks to a balanced water supply

Water level indicator
1 Takes the guesswork out of watering, telling you exactly when to refill the reservoir

Water supply shaft
2 Makes adding water and fertilizer easy

LECHUZA-PON
3 Perfectly controls the water supply and provides essential nutrients to the plant

Separator
4 Forms the water reservoir in the bottom of the planter

The growing-in phase

After planting in LECHUZA, continue to water your plant for 12 weeks from above as you usually would (1). To see whether the roots of the plant have already grown down into the moisture area, fill the water reservoir completely (2). If the water level indicator goes down over the next three days, your plant is already getting all the water it needs. If not, this specific plant will need a slightly longer growing-in phase (e.g. orchids or plants that start with a very small root ball).
